

Nabarro LLP

125 London Wall, canteen and break-out area wall – ‘Word Search’

312 hand rendered letter forms, 45 law terms and 1 box of giant chalks...

To help get brains into gear at law firm Nabarro LLP in 2016, the first new wall for their magnificent 125 London Wall offices was a giant ‘Word Search’ – for Nabarro’s staff to find and circle with chalk the 45 law terms hidden within.

To help give the humble letter grid gravitas and elegance, the typographic tour de force of 312 letter forms was lovingly hand rendered by Nick Garrett, one of the UK’s leading traditional sign writers. And then? We let the legal eagle eyes at it with a big box of white chalks – and we’ll how long it takes them to find all 45...

The Nabarro ‘Word Search’ wall is part of an on-going body of work for Nabarro. The wall has become a highlight and talking point within Nabarro and visiting clients – from the award winning typographic moving in facts, to sweet savoury and skylines, through to law firm alliance partners city cameos for a recent conference and most recently the resplendent Season’s Greetings. The Nabarro wall is and will continue to be an ever evolving canvas.

Kind words...

“HCLKCNEON;ZJXCCJDD
ARECKDCNLDNCDLDLN
KSHKSBRILLIANTKJCIK”

ALEX BELLINGER

Head of Communications
Nabarro LLP

Nabarro LLP

125 London Wall, canteen and break-out area wall – ‘Word Search’

PROJECT SUMMARY

- Project brand guardian
- Art direction
- Interior design moodboards
- Signage & way finding
- Breakout area graphics
- Client space graphics
- Staff spaces graphics
- Meeting room art & graphics
- Digital messaging
- Manifestations
- Cafe branding

